FREE DELIVERY

It costs a big Department Store in New York City nearly a quarter of a million dollars every year just to deliver goods to customers. You know very well that store must provide for this enormous outlay by selling its goods just as much higher than it would sell them if it had no delivery. Apply the same reasoning to local conditions. The grocer, or butcher, or baker, who delivers goods to your house must charge for delivery in the price of goods. It is a free delivery for him. It costs him nothing. But you pay for it every time. If you prefer to have your goods delivered, the parcel delivery takes care of you, and you know exactly what it costs. If you carry your goods home from a store that supports a delivery system, you pay for the other fellow's delivery. It is always included in the price of the goods. If you carry your goods home from our store, you are not paying for the other fellow's delivery, and you save exactly what it would cost us to deliver it. It is worth saving.

The flagstaff at the state army in Westerly has been taken down by order of Major Arthur N. Nash, who has the charge of the army, and in consequence the stars and stripes can float no more over the state building. This is not due to lack of patriotism on the part of the army, but to the fact that the flag is now fully equipped to answer to the call to arms, and the flag is now fully equipped to answer to the call to arms, and the flag is now fully equipped to answer to the call to arms.

The house has passed an act amending the pure food and drug law which would give to the commissioners authority to prosecute for the sale of the impure milk. The bill is intended to provide a special protection for those towns in Rhode Island which are unable properly to inspect and control their food supply without state assistance. The state laboratory is at the disposal of milk inspectors of the towns where there are no facilities for analyzing milk. Towns having milk inspectors, who having lack of technical training or from lack of funds, are unable to control the quality of milk sold. The inspectors, if this amendment becomes law, can call upon the state chemist for the necessary analyses.

The purpose of the act is not to interfere with the present system of milk inspection, but rather to cooperate with further assist local inspectors, who may wish assistance and to protect the milk of those communities where no inspection exists. At the present time Rhode Island is the only state where such cooperation does not exist.

The senate committee on judiciary of the Rhode Island general assembly has under consideration an act to create a state pension commission and the payment of monthly pensions towards the support of indigent, aged, and abandoned mothers, with dependent children. It is provided in the act that the commission shall consist of the governor, one justice of the supreme court, a woman, to be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate, and who shall serve without compensation.

According to the act, as proposed, the allowance to mothers shall not exceed $10.00 per month.

STONINGTON

Applications For Appointment of Teacher at High School—State's Attorney H. A. Hull to Address Men's Club.

There were several applicants for the appointment of teacher in English at the Stonington High school, which will be vacant at the end of the month. The resignation of Miss Pearl Davis, who has been teaching in the school, has been accepted. Among the applicants is Harold E. Eaton, a graduate of the school in 1914. He has been teaching in Providence since his graduation.

Mrs. Stiles F. Stanton, a former teacher at the Stonington High school, is visiting in Providence. She is a graduate of the school in 1914. She has been teaching in Providence since her graduation.

Mrs. Courtney G. Babcock and son, Harry, are in Atlantic City. Harry C. Joseph, of Attleboro, is on a visit in the borough to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel E. Joseph. Major Hadral A. Hull, of New London, a former resident of the borough, will address the Stonington Men's club on the eve of St. Patrick's day, and he will speak on the Coast Artillery Corps of the National Guard.

Mrs. Oscar Strover (Miss Martha Duka), formerly of Stonington, died Thursday at her home in Jersey City.

ced $10 a month if she has one child under 14, and for each additional child $5 a month extra is allowed. An appropriation of $10,000 is required to make the measure operative.

In the absence of Judge Oliver H. Williams by reason of sickness, Clerk Clarence E. Roche presided at the session of the Third district court. The cases on the civil docket, mainly small book accounts, were continued for one week. In a disputed bill account of $72.50 in the case of Dotolet against O'Neil, judgment was given for full payment with costs. The defendant made no appearance, but Clerk Roche kept the case open for another week to give counsel for defendant opportunity to be heard. There was no criminal business for consideration.

Net content with their per diem pay and very liberal mileage allowance, many legislators fail to see anything wrong in making a few dollars on the side at the expense of the state, by selling to book dealers, and others, copies of the bound public laws and supreme court reports, given them by the state as legislators, and supposedly for their personal use. The secretary of state is authorized to sell these books to the public at cost, which is about $3 a volume, and the assembly members each allowed one full set. The members sell these books at a reduced price. No attempt has ever been made to stop this practice, and there is present a regular canvass made among the members, so that those desiring to sell the books need not miss the opportunity.

At the annual meeting of Cyclone Engine Company, No. 2, officers were elected as follows: Albert D. Hill, foreman; Charles O. Willis, first assistant; Cornelius Shea, second assistant; Samuel Sharp, secretary; George Kemp, treasurer. A committee was appointed to arrange for the annual company supper.

Local Laconics. Westerly has contributed $654.17 to the Armenian Relief fund.

William Culley, president of the Westerly town council, is confined to his home by illness.

At a meeting of the Westerly Cycle club, Friday evening, a committee was appointed to arrange for the annual dinner of the club.

Through the efforts of the shovel brigade and dump cart auxiliary, materially assisted by rain, considerable snow disappeared from Dixon square, Friday.

William H. Wiley, 84, died Friday at the home of his daughter in West Bethel, Me., after a long illness. He was a Civil war veteran, and was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Thomas George Hazard, 92, who died Friday morning at his home on the Boston Neck road, Narragansett, was the oldest resident of Washington county. He was born in New Jersey, March 13, 1824, the son of Benjamin and Harriet Lyman Hazard.

The granite workers of Westerly have accepted the new bill of prices offered by the Granite Manufacturers' association, which carries with it an increase in wages of from 13 to 15 per cent and the agreement is for four years from March 1 next. The quarry workers at Bradford have not yet accepted the new proposition.

The joint committee of the town council and Westerly Board of Trade, to petition the public utilities commission for a hearing in Westerly on electric light and gas rates, have delegated Town Solicitor Agard to prepare the petition. Before final presentation the petition will be considered by the town council. There is question of the propriety of the town council's connection with the petition, as the town has contract with the Westerly Light & Power company, covering the points to be raised.

MYSTIC

Home Night at Methodist Church Proves a Great Success—St. Agatha's Chapter Formed.

The home night at the Methodist Episcopal church on Friday evening was one of great joy and inspiration for the members of the church. This was the first time such an affair had been held in the local church, but the pastor, Rev. W. H. Dunnack, has held home nights in other churches where he has been pastor. At 6:45 o'clock eight tables had been set in the vestry, which had been decorated with red and white. About 75 sat down to a salad supper prepared by the ladies of the church. The following served at different tables: Mrs. W. H. Dunnack and Mrs. A. J. Decker, at the guest table; Mrs. Herbert Lamphere and Mrs. Bond, at table No. 2; Mrs. Henry Tedder and Mrs. Harriet Avery, at table No. 3; Mrs. Elbert Burdick and Mrs. Henry Schroeder, at table No. 4; Mrs. George Keigwin and Mrs. Alice Avery, at table No. 5; Mrs. Harriett Hancock.

MAKES THE STOMACH FEEL FINE

MI-O-NA Quickly Stops Heartburn, Sourness, Gas and All Misdigestion of Indigestion.

It's a pleasure to sell a medicine when customers come in afterward and tell you how much good it has done them. It is really a most unusual medicine everywhere can tell of this experience in their sale of MI-O-NA, the well known stomach remedy. And the reason why they are so glad to sell and recommend MI-O-NA is that it does the work and ends all stomach distresses just like the MI-O-NA people say it will. As a result of this success most every druggist goes a step further and sells MI-O-NA on a special guarantee that unless it helps the purchaser he can have his money back. That may seem rash, but customers have said so many good words in MI-O-NA that it is really a most unusual medicine and the rapid increase of sales since it was introduced in Norwich shows that it does all that it is claimed to do—relieves dyspepsia, regulates digestion and enables those who use it to eat just what they want with no fear of trouble after. Sold by Lee & Osgood and any other leading druggist in this vicinity.

WHEN YOU WANT to put your business before the public, there is no medium better than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

MILK AND BUTTER
SHORTAGE NOT TO BE FEARED
While it is a serious matter now in Europe this country would be able to take care of itself even though isolated.

(Special to The Bulletin.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—That a milk and butter shortage need never take place in this country no matter how completely isolated from the rest of the world it might become in some future condition of its development, is a bit of interesting information contained in a study just prepared for the National Geographic Society at Washington on the world's dairy industry. Despatches from several of the warring countries in Europe carry notices of serious shortages of butter-fats and of milk; and, regarding the insufficiency of milk supplies in certain belligerent lands, which has been said about the hardship worked upon the babies. The Society's review of butter and milk production in the various countries reduces questions just now of greatest interest concerning the nature of the war's reaction upon humanity's milk supply and butter stocks to concrete figures. The following bulletin embodies the results:

"In any discussion of the world's market the importance of milk cannot be overlooked. In the United States alone we produce more than six billion gallons a year. This is an average of nearly one gallon per cow a day. Exclusive of the milk and cream consumed on the farms of the country (which, by the way, represents the bulk of our production), our dairy products are worth $600,000,000 a year.

"In other words, they are worth enough to build a Panama Canal, and pay for the maintenance of the American army and navy every year.

"Only one-third of all of the milk produced in the United States is sold from the farm. Much of that which remains is used for domestic purposes there, although a billion pounds of butter is proudly exhibited by the nation's dairymen. In normal times England takes three-fifths of the world's surplus of butter; in 1912, out of 725,000,000 pounds moving in international commerce, the United States took 425,000,000 pounds.

"There are no world statistics of the production of cheese, except of that part moving in international trade. The United States annually produces about four pounds per capita. The total amount imported by all the countries of the world is 21,000,000 pounds, of which the United Kingdom takes 250,000,000, Germany 47,000,000 and Austria-Hungary 25,000,000. Bulgaria exports 7,500,000 pounds, and Holland and Switzerland have 190,000,000 pounds to give a cheese-hungry world."

"In recent years Russia has built up a large dairy industry in Siberia, and before the war great express trains sweeping across two continents, carrying nothing but dairy products, were a striking object-lesson of the world's craving for butter and cheese. The Chinese, Koreans, and Japanese use comparatively little milk, their countries being too poor to admit of the keeping of many cows.

"Little Denmark leads all the countries of the world in the exportation of dairy products, but in the United States is known wherever good living is enjoyed. Danish dairymen have been imported to all parts of the temperate world to teach the secrets of high-class dairying.

"The volume of butter which in normal times reaches the channels of international trade amounts to 725,000,000 pounds, which is less than half of the butter production of the United States alone. The per capita consumption of butter in the United States is about 17 pounds. On the same basis, Germany would consume 1,135,000,000 pounds. In 1912 that country imported 122,000,000 pounds more than it exported.

"It will be seen from this that if the normal shortage as much butter as we do, the shortage would be 10.7 per cent. However, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and Holland have about 325,000,000 pounds to export annually, while Austria-Hungary has a surplus of 4,000,000 pounds. In normal times England takes three-fifths of the world's surplus of butter; in 1912, out of 725,000,000 pounds moving in international commerce, the United States took 425,000,000 pounds.
